

Graduate Teaching Fellows Program

Peer Leadership for Teaching Development

Georgia Tech Center for Teaching and Learning

Current Members

Ian Helfrich, Economics
Rebecca Watts Hull, History and Sociology
Elaine Rhoades, Physics
Angela Yoo, Psychology

Evan Mallen, City and Regional Planning
Sidni Justus, Psychology
Terri Dunbar, Psychology
Madeline Mei, Biology

Who we are

- › We are advanced graduate students.
- › We create resources for TAs.
- › We design projects and programs.
- › We develop teaching workshops.
- › We contribute to the work of the Center for Teaching and Learning.

"Participating in the GTF program has connected me to people across campus who are incredibly passionate about teaching. These connections have inspired me to continually improve and reflect on my own teaching as well as help support effective instruction for students across campus."

-Terri Dunbar,
Psychology

Applications for 2019-2020 cohort are open now and due March 15, 2019.

Qualifications

- › Ph.D. candidate with satisfactory progress.
- › 2+ semesters as a TA or instructor.
- › Tech to Teaching certificate program member (preferred)
- › Work well independently and collaboratively.
- › Excellent oral and written communicator.
- › Interest in higher education as a career.
- › Approval from advisor or department.